

Kodomo-anime is made for children. Dobycy says about men-like creatures with moustache, paws and tails. Hentai. Because of this genre anime is not a cartoon especially for children. This is a painted porno. Hentai is divided into 2 subgenres: uri and yaoi.

CHINESE DRAGONS

Chinese culture is very interesting and mysterious. Today I want to speak about Chinese dragons. To my mind it's a worth term of speaking. Dragons are curious creatures... creatures that permeate every facet of almost every culture around the world. Dragons are cunning, wise, resourceful, keen, humble, and of course, frightening. The world over has sought for the modern dragon... a cause maligned due to the arrogance of man... thinking first, dragons are but a myth, and second, that man is the greatest, most intelligent creature on earth. As a result, man has forgotten the ancient dragon spirit... Many legends, many lives... Dragons have survived the wrath of countless centuries, even those before Christ. These survivors, far superior to their "would-be captors", have often pondered this one question more than most...

So, what is a dragon? What do you know about them? Generally most people think of a large lizard. When they hear the word "dragon", however there are many other things which include the word "dragon" in their name that have nothing to do with the mythological creature. This includes komodo dragons (the largest lizard in the world) and bearded dragons (household pets, per se) for example. The various figures now called dragons most likely have no single origin, but spontaneously came to be in several different cultures around the world, based loosely on the appearance of a snake and possibly fossilized dinosaur remains.

The Chinese dragon looks like a combination of many animals. For the Chinese people, Dragons were described visually as a composite of parts from nine animals:

- The head of a camel.
- The horns of a deer.
- The eyes of a devil.
- The neck of a snake.
- The abdomen of a clam.
- The scales of a carp.
- The claws of an eagle.
- The paws of a tiger.
- The ears of an ox.

Deer horns, as deer are ridden by the immortals and represent longevity and good luck. Tigers eyes - the tiger is the king of the beasts, mighty and strong. Catfish whiskers, to represent the material wealth. (Catfish are an essential part of the Spring festival meal). A humans beard, as a symbol of intelligence and talent.(The longer the beard the wiser you are).The segmented body represents a snake.
